

Meikimeik aka Schallmayer

composer, producer, guitars

Michael Schallmayer or meikimeik was born in 1978 near Vienna and began playing the guitar when he was eight years old. After first taking classical guitar lessons, he was then given an electric guitar at the age of 15 and became interested in 'wilder' forms of music such as Funk, Acid Jazz from the seventies. Shortly after this the band 'Daddyophonics' came together and he has been playing electric guitar with them ever since.

Meikimeik also managed to find the time to study jazz guitar for two years, teach rock and jazz guitar for four, organize music courses for children and band workshops and worked together with many artists as guitarist and composer.

After all these years of experience and the influence of different types of music, meikimeik has formed his own particular style of melodious Jazz licks and groovy Funk riffs. His talent also lies in his ability to understand difficult harmonies and chords and accompany vocalists and solo musicians.
